

NAVAL WAR COLLEGE
NEWPORT, R. I.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

March 28, 1956

Dear Mr. Dulles:

After we had started our invitation to you for the lecture on 5 June we found that the Army War College was expecting you on the following day. I realize that this would make a very strenuous schedule for you, but we are anxiously hoping that you will be able to take it on. If it is convenient for you to spend any night here, Mrs. McCormick and I would be delighted to have you as our house guest.

As you can see, this note supplements my letter of 21 March.

With cordial regards and earnest hopes that you will be able to visit us,

Sincerely,

LYNDE D. McCORMICK
Vice Admiral, U.S.N.

Honorable Allen W. Dulles
Director, Central Intelligence Agency
